

Do Everything Well

This huge fresco behind the Sistine Chapel altar may be the greatest representation of the coming of Christ at the end of time. The centerpiece of the composition is Christ the judge with the Virgin at his side represented in a halo, surrounded by a crowd of apostles, prophets, patriarchs, Old Testament heroines, martyrs, and saints who form a double crown of swirling bodies. Michelangelo painted hundreds of figures, all with exquisite attention to detail.

Just think, when Michelangelo was painting, his work in the chapel was destined to be seen by very few—the pope, his court, a few visiting kings and diplomats at most. The Sistine Chapel would receive less foot traffic in Michelangelo's time than a medium- to small-sized parish today. Yet, Michelangelo painted with the same eye to perfection as if he knew his work would be seen by millions. He was not painting for the multitudes but for God and his patron, the pope.

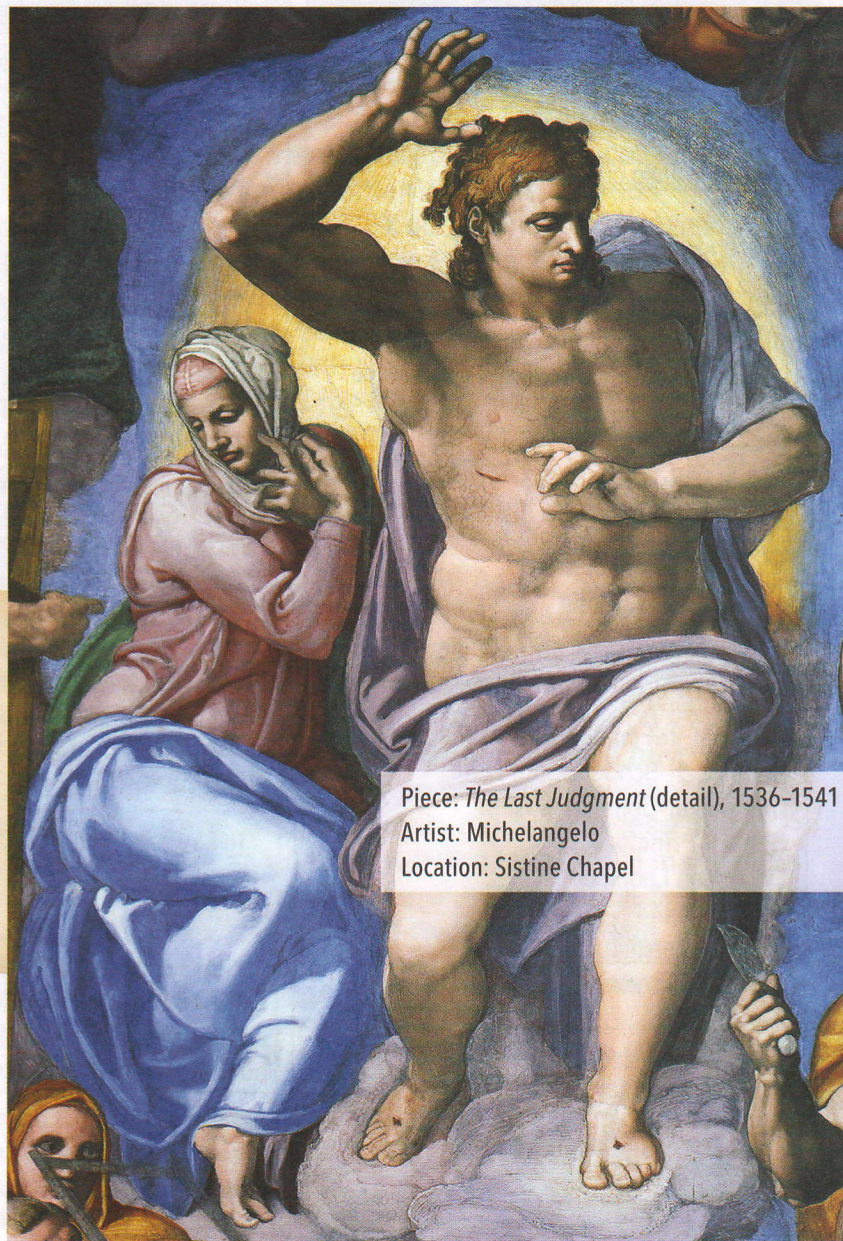

Similarly, if we act with generosity and love, whether observed by millions or no one, we will follow the path to true freedom and love. We do what is right, not to be seen, but because we want to be true to God, ourselves, and others. Living like this, we will have no reason to fear the Last Judgment.

Pastor's letter to the People of St. Ignatius

Hello Church! The election November 6th, predictably, exposed grievous tensions in our nation. If you've watched the news, you've seen the map--red areas separate from blue. That tension is literally as old as the Bible! God condemned the city dwellers who would look down their noses at the people who lived in the rural areas. In our country no doubt, God would have to condemn both sides, as we hear some modern urban dwellers calling the country folks rubes or worse, and some country folks, labeling the urbanites as morally depraved, or worse, racially inferior. The Archbishop, in a letter to all of us priests, has just called us to do something about that. I want to adopt one of his calls to action in a creative way, by putting together Veterans Day and Thanksgiving. Another November occasion, the Archbishop reminds us, it is also Black Catholic History Month. He is inviting all parishes to arrange for some of their members to visit a parish that is ethnically different. So for us, mostly Caucasian, that would mean visiting perhaps a North City parish, such as Saint Elizabeth, that has many of my former parishioners from my North City days. Some of you would go there for 10 a.m. Sunday Mass Sunday of Thanksgiving weekend, November 25th. That also happens to be my birthday so this would be a very cool birthday gift to give your Pastor! You seek out their Pastor after Mass, and ask him to direct you to the oldest veteran at that Mass and present the vet with a flag and a thank you card and perhaps a Thanksgiving cornucopia basket of goodies or whatever gift you deem appropriate for Thanksgiving, and you tell him (I'm guessing it would be a him) where you come from and that you just wanted to come there and THANK him for serving. I would have arranged all this in advance with the pastor so he would be expecting you. Let this be one action among many in our Archdiocese that practices racial unity, in contrast with the tensions in many parts of the nation. What do you say Church? Who will be first to tell me you will go? We can arrange the details soon enough. In Christ,
Fr Steve

Dear Padre,

What are the Catholic Church's liturgical seasons? When does a new liturgical year begin?

A liturgical year is an annual cycle of communal prayer and celebration. The Roman Catholic Church divides its liturgical year into five distinct seasons: Advent, Christmas, Lent, Easter, and Ordinary Time.

Our liturgical year starts on the first Sunday of Advent. The Christmas season officially starts with the evening celebrations on December 24. Christmas runs for more than twelve days, through the feast of the Epiphany to the Baptism of the Lord, which is celebrated on either the second or third Sunday in January.

Next is Ordinary Time, which is divided into two parts. The first part ends the day before Ash Wednesday, which is the first of the forty days of Lent. Lent is followed by the seven weeks of the Easter season, which ends on the day we celebrate the descent of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost.

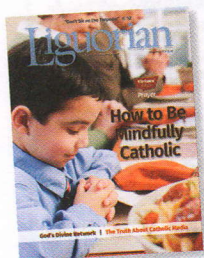

On Pentecost we pick up the second part of Ordinary Time, which ends the day before the first Sunday of Advent (this year that's in two weeks, on December 2). Each liturgical season has distinct flavors and traditions, but they come together in harmony to help us reflect on the one mystery at the heart of every liturgy no matter the season: the saving mystery of Christ's life, death, and resurrection.

A Word From Pope Francis

If in the course of the liturgical year a parish priest speaks about temperance ten times but only mentions charity or justice two or three times, an imbalance results....The same thing happens when we speak more about law than about grace, more about the Church than about Christ.
