The Dangers of Jealousy

Paul and Barnabas were preaching to the Jewish people in synagogues, but today's reading reveals why they changed audiences and began preaching to the Gentiles. After initial interest was shown by the Jews, the leaders became jealous and stirred up a persecution against the apostles.

Jealousy is a powerful thing. It deafens us from perceiving the good things God wants to give us through others and turns our neighbor into an enemy. It makes us critical, unsatisfied, bitter, and discouraged. Rather than find support in our brother or sister, we lose that gift and alienate ourselves. God and peace are never found in jealousy.

God sent Paul and Barnabas to preach to the Gentiles and to bring his good news to souls who were open to hearing his voice. Humility is the virtue that helps us see the good of others and appreciate it as if it were our own.

The Good Shepherd was speaking to his flock and wanted to lead them to greener pastures, but only the humble were able to hear him and be led to those springs of life-giving water.

Beware of the dangers of jealousy and pride that make us rebellious sheep who are unable to be led and taught by those who love us most. We think we know better than God, his word, and his Church, separating from the flock and the shepherd. May God grant us a listening and humble heart, open to discovering his truth through the Good Shepherd who constantly wants to speak it to us.

For Reflection

Would my friends and family generally describe me as a humble person?

Is there a way I can become more humble in my relationship with God and the Church?

[Jesus said,] "My sheep hear my voice; I know them, and they follow me. I give them eternal life, and they shall never perish."

Pastor's letter to the People of St. Ignatius

Many of you have expressed sadness to me that we are saying goodbye to our office manager, Anne Lober by the end of this month. You may stop by anytime Monday through Thursday before her usual departure time of 2:30 p.m., and give her your good wishes. I am happy to report that it looks like we will not be left without an office manager after her last day. Based on the resumes and applications that are already coming in, it looks like we will have several good applicants for the position, and hopefully have a new office manager in place the Monday after Anne's last day, or June 4th. Our generous Anne has offered to reach out to the new manager to help him or her get sufficiently up to speed with the new job, even as Anne is starting her new work at Saint Francis Borgia High School. She will also be a big help in the screening of the applicants, as she is the most familiar with the requirements of the job. Be sure you thank her for that. I am certain that the Holy Spirit sent her to us at a time that the parish needed her two years ago, and so I'm equally certain that the Spirit wanted her to move to an even more challenging job at the high school, and bows how much they need her over there. Trust that the same Holy Spirit has the right person lined up for Saint Ignatius to succeed Anne, even before I do the first interviews. Remember to pray for her as she moves on, and for the new manager that is soon to be here. While you're extending congratulations and prayers, please offer them as well to our wonderful First Communicants! The Spirit is moving them on as well to a deeper appreciation of the Lord's Body and Blood. Blessings,
Fr Steve

Dear Padre,

My young son asks, “If Jesus was Jewish, then why are we called Catholics?”

Jesus was a first-century Jew, as were his first disciples. They continued their Jewish practices after Jesus’ resurrection, but they believed and proclaimed that he was the long-awaited Messiah, the fulfillment of Judaism. Such claims inevitably led to clashes with Jewish authorities, as when Stephen, the first martyr, was charged with blasphemy and stoned to death in Jerusalem in AD 36 (Acts 6–7). Nevertheless, Jesus’ followers initially saw themselves as reformers of Judaism—not founders of a new religion.

The Acts of the Apostles traces the first thirty years of this community of believers, from Jesus’ ascension in Jerusalem to Paul’s imprisonment in Rome.

It details the beginnings of their separation from Judaism, as when the Jewish disciples wanted to impose certain practices of Mosaic Law on the Gentile disciples—circumcision, for example (Acts 15:11). Acts and the epistles also chronicle their expansion outside of Jerusalem to the Mediterranean region—where, for example, in Antioch, the disciples of Jesus were called Christians for the first time (Acts 11:26). The first written reference to “Catholic Church” is from St. Ignatius of Antioch around the year 107. Catholic means universal.

“The Church is catholic: she proclaims the fullness of the faith. She bears in herself and administers the totality of the means of salvation. She is sent out to all peoples. She speaks to all men. She encompasses all times. She is missionary of her very nature” (Catechism of the Catholic Church, 868).

A Word from Pope Francis

The Gentiles, observing the early Christians, said: How they love each other, how they wish one another well! They do not hate, they do not speak against one another. This is the charity, the love of God, that the Holy Spirit puts in our hearts....

Our smallest gesture of love benefits everyone!
